Faculty Student Ombudsman

The Faculty Ombudsman's role was established in 2002 as an additional source of advice and support for students and complements the role of the Dean of Students who is the final point of appeal for a student at the University. The current Faculty Student Ombudsman is Dr Karl Bretreger.

Dr Bretreger is available to help students on various issues (academic and/or personal) which may be affecting their studies. Dr Bretreger is also available to act in an advisory role in relation to concerns that may involve University policies and procedures.
