EVIDENCE OF YOUR RIGHT TO WORK IN AUSTRALIA

In order to comply with the Department of Immigration and Border Protection legislation the University is required to check the work entitlements of all new and prospective employees. You must provide one of the following as evidence of your right to undertake the approved activities in Australia:

1. An Australian passport; or
2. An Australian Birth Certificate (certificate must be a complete copy and not an extract, stating place of birth for individual and parents) AND Photo Identification; or
3. An Australian citizenship certificate AND Photo Identification; or
4. A New Zealand passport; or
5. A valid visa with permission to work AND valid passport AND Visa Entitlement Verification Online (VEVO) check permission below

If your documents are in a different name, you will also need to supply evidence of name change ie. marriage certificate.

NB: You will need to present your original Birth Certificate/Passport/Visa documentation, or certified copies, to a University Officer for sighting

VEVO CHECK FOR VISA HOLDERS

HRS will check the entitlements of your visa using a tool provided by the Department of Immigration and Border Protection, VEVO (Visa Entitlement Verification Online).

Using your name, date of birth, passport number and passport country of issue, VEVO will show if you have unlimited work entitlements, limited work entitlements including a description of work conditions or no work entitlements.

This information will provide us with details of your working rights.

If you are not entitled to be in Australia, the Commonwealth may use information collected through the inquiry to locate you.

Please sign below to indicate your permission for HRS to undertake a VEVO Check.
