

The University of Newcastle and The University of Waikato Partnership Seed Fund – Overview

We invite staff to apply for the 2026 round of the Partnership Seed Fund. The Fund supports collaborative projects across research, teaching, and professional services, with a strong emphasis on initiatives that foster transdisciplinary collaboration, alignment with UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), that forge pathways to long-term impact.

The Seed Fund acts as a strategic mechanism for international professional development, particularly for Early Career Researchers (ECRs) and Early Career Professionals. We strongly encourage proposals that include PhD candidates and Indigenous staff contributing in meaningful ways.

Key Details

- Eligibility: Each project must be led by a staff member from both UoW and UoN. Lead investigators must be on continuing appointments or fixed-term contracts that extend beyond December 2026.
- Funding: AU$50,000 (UoN) and NZ$50,000 (UoW) available. Maximum funding per project: AU$15,000.
- Project Duration: Projects must run from June to December 2026.
- Assessment: Proposals are assessed by a joint UoW–UoN panel based on Innovation, Excellence & Impact, Partnership Impact, and Reputation Building.
- Expected Outcomes: Proposals should outline tangible outcomes such as publications, external funding applications, stakeholder engagement, or sustainable collaborations.

<sup>1</sup> Accommodation costs are to be included in the budget of the home institution. For example, a Waikato staff member travelling to Newcastle needs to include accommodation costs in the Waikato budget.

<sup>3</sup> The fund is not intended to cover staff costs or time, or to fund fixed term contract extensions

Whereas staff salary costs are not eligible to be funded – costs for very short-term research or specialist support, vital to the success of the project will be considered i.e costs to employ students and / or research assistants in support of the PI / project
