CANDIDATE STATEMENTS

MICHELLE STUBBS

I wish to re-nominate myself for another term on the CHMW College Board. Over the past term, I have dedicated myself to advancing our institution's vision and supporting our diverse community of students, faculty, and staff. My initiatives have included spearheading innovative educational programs, fostering an inclusive environment, improving wellbeing, and ensuring the highest standards of academic excellence through program governance.

My extensive experience in education, coupled with my deep commitment to the college, uniquely positions me to continue contributing effectively to our board. I have actively participated in policy formulation, strategic planning, and community engagement efforts, all aimed at enhancing the overall student experience and institutional growth.

I am eager to bring my vision, energy, and collaborative spirit to another term, driving forward the initiatives that will shape the future of our college. I respectfully ask for your support in my re-election to continue serving this exceptional institution.

SHOU-YU CINDY WANG

My name is Cindy Wang, currently working in School of Nursing and Midwifery (SONM) as Associate Professor. An experienced university teacher and researcher in nursing who is seeking as an academic staff member to the CHMW College Boards. I hold a position of Head of Undergraduate in SONM. During my teaching career (both overseas and in Australia), I am a board member of various academic board (including international committee board (also serve as head of international committee board) and postgraduate board). Furthermore, I am also a committee member of ISNCC Conference Management Committee. As a member of the various committees, it is essential to discuss across the board and negotiate and mediate the teamwork when conflicts arise. I believe that I can contribute my knowledge and skills to the College Boards. I will be honoured to have an opportunity to serve as an academic staff member to the CHMW Boards.

NICOLE HAINSWORTH

As Program Convenor of the Master of Midwifery (Graduate Entry) program and a midwifery educator, I am passionate about fostering academic excellence through evidence-informed curriculum, scholarship and continuous improvement. My research focuses on transforming approaches to higher education through relational pedagogy and the scholarship of teaching and learning to enhance the student experience and graduate capabilities. My experience in curriculum leadership, assessment redesign, and academic integrity has strengthened my understanding of academic governance and quality enhancement. I believe effective governance should uphold high academic standards while supporting innovation and responsiveness to emerging educational and workforce priorities. As a member of the College Board, I would contribute a collaborative, evidence-informed perspective and a strong commitment to advancing excellence in learning, assessment, research, and course development
