

Neuroadvisory Newcastle

Championing neurodiversity by conducting research and teaching in partnership with neurodivergent people.

Who are we?

- The first neurodivergent advisory group of its kind in the Newcastle region
- Chairs: Dr Olivia Whalen and Professor Jodie Simpson
- 12-person panel established late 2023

Working with us

- We provide opportunities to co-design research that focuses on supporting, accommodating and empowering neurodivergent people
- Researchers can partner with neurodivergent people to produce high quality research that addresses the needs and priorities that are important

There are several ways you can work with us:

Consultation: we provide feedback

Co-production: we work together with you as equal partners

Commission of research: we create ideas for research and approach you
