

Raising the Growing Child

In the 6 hour course delivered over 3 x 2 hrs sessions, parents will generate some direction about how they want to parent in the future, discover and understand the origins of their child's behaviour and learn how to support their children to manage their own emotions and behaviour.

This program provides easy to understand:

- child development stages
- ideas on how to build and maintain positive and constructive relationships with the growing child.
- the effect the brain has on development and behaviour and
- how the child's neural processing impacts what they do.
- insights and strategies for the parent who wants to understand their growing child's development.
- ways to attend to misbehaviour appropriately by using supportive behaviour management.
