In late 1858, de Boos wrote a series of articles in the Herald on the gold rush on the Fitzroy River, upstream from Rockhampton. For this work, the Herald gave him the title 'Our Special Commissioner', though the last report was by 'Our Special Correspondent'. Most of the articles were headed 'Fitzroy Diggings', but 'Fitzroy Goldfields' was also used. The first one was placed below another article headed 'Fitzroy Gold-Fields'. Not all of the articles were numbered.
