

Word Plot accompanying Figure 4 Text Plot in “Identifying another Goldfields Reporter: Frederick Dalton 1850-1880”

Principal Components Analysis allows the researcher to produce two plots, (a text plot and a word plot) each of which can be read in conjunction with the other. The texts in Figure 4 of the article derive their location from the relatively high or relatively low usage of the words on the two intersecting Principal Components.