This will be achieved by embedding the themes of entrepreneurship and innovation, digitalisation and data within our programs and embracing sustainability, work integrated learning and a commitment to social justice.

OVERVIEW

Course Description

This course provides students with the opportunity to broaden their educational experience and cultural cognisance through participation in an organised out of country activity such as a School authorised cultural immersion tour, workshop, master class or a series of lectures from a recognised institute. High achieving students are able to expand the theoretical knowledge and skills developed in their undergraduate program and apply knowledge and skills in an external and international context.

There are two ways in which students may gain access to this course:

- 1. Through competitive entry to a partially funded cultural
- immersion tour organised by the Newcastle Business School, or 2. Through individual initiative.

In the first instance, entry is based on GPA and a written explanation as to how the undertaking the course will contribute to their future career prospects. In the latter case, prospective students will be required to present to the relevant Course Coordinator or Program Convenor, a written proposal explaining how their participation in a formal offshore educational activity will enhance their education, cultural awareness and future career prospects. All applications should occur a minimum of 2 months prior to the commencement of the term of offering.

During the teaching term and before commencing the offshore activity, students must complete two compulsory lectures covering course requirements, assessment processes, career development and planning, cultural awareness and health and safety. Students must also attend a final debriefing lecture and present on their experiences upon their return. Student must also undertake at least six hours of formal learning during the trip in forums such as organised lectures, seminars, workshops, conferences, etc.

This course meets the requirements of the United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR) and Centre International de Formation des Autorités/Acteurs Locaux (CIFAL) Newcastle, Australia.

Students who complete this course will be issued with a Certificate of Completion signed by the United Nations Assistant Secretary General and Executive Director of CIFAL
