Assessment 1 - Educating students with diverse needs

Assessment Type

Case Study / Problem Based Learning

Purpose

The purpose of this assignment is to identify a disability and discuss issues, attitudes and concepts and teaching strategies relevant to the education of students with diverse needs within the social context of school. Students develop advanced knowledge and specific professional skills of collaborative planning for students with a disability in an inclusive setting.

Description

Students will engage with current research and use their information literacy skills while working in groups (specialist research groups) of up to five peers to prepare and deliver a coherent and professional presentation on a specific disability.

Students will provide information about:

- (1) Definition and diagnosis;
- (2) characteristics, abilities and challenges;
- (3) teaching strategies relevant to the primary and/or secondary classroom;
- (4) resources to support the learning needs of students with that disability, including inter-disciplinary personnel.

Students are assessed on their ability to collaborate with other group members in developing a professional blog suitable for presenting to school staff on the chosen disability (there will be 7 defined categories from which groups choose). Students are expected to investigate diverse sources and synthesise this knowledge of evidence-based practice, and engage authentically with the information provided by other groups. A reference list must be included.

Weighting

30%

Length

450 words per section, video or vlog entries no longer than 3 mins per person total.

Due Date

Blog and any videos submitted via Turnitin: due 8th March 11:59 pm
Blog posted in relevant discussion board: Due 10th March 11.59pm.
Interactive presentations in class weeks 7,8. Q&A responses on discussion board by 22nd March 11.59pm

Submission Method

Assessment 2 - Online Quiz

Assessment Type	Quiz
Purpose	The purpose of this assessment task is to demonstrate the application of a body of knowledge in relation to legislation, educational policies, and provisions for students with diverse needs including understanding learning processes for people with disability.  This includes developing an understanding of the role of families in supporting a child with disability and the role of the teacher as a collaborative participant in developing effective educational programs.
Description	Students complete 20 multiple-choice questions about inclusive practice in the context of the 2005 Commonwealth Disability Standards for Education.  Students are assessed on their conceptual/theoretical understanding, critical analysis, and their ability to apply the Standards to situations involving the education of students with disability.
Weighting	20%
Length	20 multiple choice questions.
Due Date	Portal opens In Class. The portal will remain accessible for a period of one (1) hour once opened by the student.
Submission Method	Online
Assessment Criteria	Students select correct answer on 20 multiple choice questions
Return Method	Online
Feedback Provided	Online.

Assessment 3 - Project

Assessment Type	Project
Purpose	The purpose of this assignment is to give students the opportunity to demonstrate awareness of, and a capacity to incorporate into planning, evidence-based teaching and learning strategies designed to optimise academic and social outcomes for students with additional needs in primary and secondary settings. Students are required to write a review of three articles that address both the likely impact of ADHD on classroom performance (learning and behaviour) and the evidence-based strategies that have been shown to minimise barriers to learning that result from these impacts. Students then apply this knowledge from the review into planning to meet the needs of a particular case study student with ADHD
Description	Assessment 3A: Literature Review - 30%  Before starting, read the case study profile of the year 6/7 student diagnosed with ADHD provided for this assignment. The relevant characteristics of ADHD and strategies discussed in your literature review will be applied to the case study in Part B.  Select at least four (4) peer reviewed references from the reading list on Canvas, including the essential readings relating to the education of students with ADHD.  Synthesise and analyse information from these articles to define the key characteristics of ADHD, and discuss the impact these characteristics can have on their learning and social outcomes. Discuss at least five (5) evidenced-based strategies and classroom approaches from the articles that teachers can incorporate into their teaching practice to minimize these barriers to learning and social interaction. These approaches may include strategies for classroom organisation, lesson planning and/or delivery. (1200 words)

Assessment 3B: Application of Evidence-based Strategies to Practice - 20%

Read the case study profile of a year 6 or year 7 student diagnosed with ADHD. Imagine that this student is in your class. A learning support team will devise goals for students to ensure that everyone working with that student is working collaboratively to support the student. These goals must be what is called SMART goals. Further information and a workshop identifying some possible goals will occur during tutorials in the final two weeks before the assignment is due.

You will need to present one academic and one social/behavioural goal. Each goal should be one short sentence with all the key elements of a SMART goal. You will need to justify these goals in relation to the student's individual strengths, interests and needs as outlined in the profile, and with reference to the typical characteristics of students with ADHD as discussed in the research articles from Part A. Ensure that your goals are presented in SMART format.

Select two strategies for each goal (4 strategies in total) from those discussed in Part A. These should support the achievement of your selected goals. The strategies must allow for full academic and social inclusion of the student, as required by the Disability Standards for Education, 2005. Focus on applying the selected strategies specifically to the case study and your teaching context, with Implementation details. Links must be provided to demonstrate insight into the evidence-based teaching practices from the research articles in Part A. For the purpose of this assignment, no Learning Support Officer (teacher's aide) is available to assist with any strategies or their implementation. (800 words)

SMART goal: Social/Behavioural	&gt;0 to 2 The goal is not written as one short sentence and does contains only one or two of the following core elements: a specific skill that can be measured, and that is designed to be achievable for the student in the case study within an identified time frame. The goal has limited links to the case study student's needs, strengths, and the relevant characteristics of ADHD, and is not adequately supported by research from Part A of the assignment. Repeated errors in inclusive language are evident throughout.	&gt;2 to 3 The goal is one short sentence that contains some of the following core elements: a specific skill that can be measured and that is designed to be achievable for the student in the case study within an identified time frame. The goal is discussed with accurate insight into how it is linked to the case study student's needs, strengths, and the relevant characteristics of ADHD, supported by research from Part A of the assignment. Evidence-based strategies	&gt;0 to 3 The two different classroom strategies selected are not appropriate, or a list of strategies has been provided with limited discussion, or only one strategy is relevant. The strategies have limited links to Part A, the student's strengths, needs and goal, demonstrating limited or basic understanding of how to maximise the learning of that student and meet the requirements of the DSE (2005). Implementation may rely on access to additional staff member (e.g. Learning Support Officer or parents). The discussion is not always based on information from essential readings from Part A. Repeated errors in APA referencing, formatting are evident, alongside repeated errors impacting readability and/or repeated errors in inclusive language.	&gt;3 to 5 Two different classroom strategies or practices from Part A have been competently applied to the case study student, and an attempt to practically illustrate the use of these strategies has been made. Each strategy is linked to the student's strengths, needs and goal demonstrating a reasonable understanding of how to maximise the learning of that student and meet the requirements of the DSE (2005). The discussion is based on information from essential readings from Part A. APA referencing and formatting are mostly accurate. Errors impacting readability are present and/or some errors in inclusive language are present.	&gt;5 to 6 Two different classroom strategies or practices from Part A have been insightfully applied to the case study student, and practically illustrated so as the reader can imagine how they could be applied in the classroom to support the learning goal and meet the requirements of the DSE (2005). Each strategy is accurately linked to the student's strengths, needs and goal demonstrating a deep knowledge of how to maximise the learning of that student. The discussion is based on the synthesis of information from essential readings and further research from Part A. APA referencing, formatting have been maintained throughout. Readability is high and inclusive language is used.
