

INFT3100: Project Management

Callaghan

Semester 1 - 2024

OVERVIEW

Course Description Projects are pivotal for many organisations to achieve their strategic objectives. Successful projects require careful analysis, planning, implementation and monitoring and the ability to create and nurture teams. It is essential that all professionals, whether they are working in the sciences, business, engineering, information technology, health or education have the skills and knowledge to work in and manage complex projects. To successfully deliver a project, it is important to understand the technical and socio-cultural dimensions of project management. In this course, students learn the practical skills to properly plan, execute, monitor and close successful projects. Since every project relies on the combined efforts of many individuals and groups who are delivering it, the course also explores the best ways to effectively communicate, provide leadership and work with other people in multi-skilled team environment. Realistic, practical exercises are integrated in to the course so that students experience all aspects of the Project Life Cycle.

SYLLABUS

Course Content Contemporary project management practice is introduced. Two overarching principles have guided the design of course content and delivery techniques. Firstly, the Project Management Body of Knowledge will provide the conceptual framework and guide topic selection. Secondly, examples that are tailored to suit the background and interests of students will be utilised to demonstrate and re-enforce concepts. Topics covered include:

- The Project Management Life Cycle: defining, planning, executing and delivering
- The Project Management Body of Knowledge
- Project selection
- The organisational context: strategy, structure, and people
- Scope estimation, scheduling and budgeting
- The triple constraint: managing time, cost and scope and their effects on quality
- Risk Management
- Team management - communication and human resources
- Contemporary Project Management tools

Course Learning Outcomes On successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate their acquisition of the knowledge and skills of Project Management based on the Project Management Body of Knowledge (PMBOK);
2. Indicate the importance of both socio-cultural and technical issues in the successful management of a project;
3. Apply modern project management techniques and tools within their professional area of expertise.

Course Evaluation

Each year feedback is sought from students and other stakeholders about the courses offered in the University for the purposes of identifying areas of excellence and potential improvement.

Oral Interviews (Vivas)

As part of the evaluation process of any assessment item in this course an oral examination (viva) may be conducted. The purpose of the oral examination is to verify the authorship of the material submitted in response to the assessment task. The oral examination will be conducted in accordance with the principles set out in the Oral Examination \(viva\) Procedure. In cases where the oral examination reveals the assessment item may not be the student's own work the case will be dealt with under the Student Conduct Rule.

Academic Misconduct

All students are required to meet the academic integrity standards of the University. These standards reinforce the importance of integrity and honesty in an academic environment. Academic Integrity policies apply to all students of the University in all modes of study and in all locations. For the Student Academic Integrity Policy, refer to <https://policies.newcastle.edu.au/document/view-current.php?id=35>.
